Executive Director United Way Southern Interior BC, April 2019

On 1 April 2019, United Way Southern Interior BC was established following the merger of United Way Central and South Okanagan Similkameen (UWCSSO) and United Way North Okanagan Columbia Shuswap (UWNOCS).

This is an exciting opportunity to lead this new regional United Way, building on over 65 years of community investment across the Okanagan.

We are looking for a dynamic, innovative and highly collaborative leader to take forward the work of the previous Executive Directors, Linda Yule - who retired from UWNOCS in March 2019 - and Helen Jackman who is moving on to a new role in our community as Executive Director of the Okanagan College Foundation in June.

In recent years, United Way has begun to shift and expand its role to focus on community development; we don't just invest in local health and social care charities through our Community Investment Fund grants, we also bring together community partners in new ways to respond to social challenges in our community. We are also committed to actively supporting the capacity of our non-profit community partners.

Following the development of a new strategic plan in 2018, we are leading an innovative range of community partnerships including: The Social Enterprise Accelerator Fund and the Child Safety Initiative, both of which are Okanagan wide programs; `<CODE>`anagan; 100 Homes Penticton; Central Okanagan Community Poverty Strategy. These sit alongside our Community Investment Fund grants as examples of our proactive approach to community development, responding to needs and gaps in our community and leading new partnerships that bring together diverse skills and resources to address challenges.

We have also begun to shift the way we develop resources. We no longer rely mainly on the United Way annual workplace campaign. We are diversifying our fundraising strategies to include major gifts and planned giving, more targeted grant writing, corporate partnerships, sponsorships, and events fundraising.

What is clear is that United Way has a unique and important role to play in our community and we are excited about the future.

To apply please submit your resume and a concise cover letter explaining your motivations for applying and the skills you will bring, by email to jobs@unitedwaysibc.com by the closing date, end of day Friday 17 May 2019.

To arrange an informal discussion with Sinéad Scanlon, Board Chair United Way SIBC, or Helen Jackman, Executive Director United Way SIBC, please email jobs@unitedwaysibc.com, and your request will be directed accordingly.

Competitive salary and benefits package, commensurate with experience. The role will be based at United Way's main office at the heart of the beautiful Okanagan Valley in Kelowna, with frequent travel to local offices in Vernon and Penticton.
